

Andrew Ilachinski

“I strive to record the subtle, interconnected web of energy that makes up what we call the world. I view all ‘objects’ in this world as fundamentally impermanent and essentially arbitrary, partitions of an otherwise continuous, unfragmented whole.”

Entropic Portals

Photography, then, is an almost mystical process whereby this illusion of fragmentation is momentarily lifted and the underlying essence of the universe revealed. To ‘see’ the whole, one must first learn to see ‘parts’ as mere illusions.”

“I take snapshots of moments in time and space in which a peace washes gently over me, and during which I sense a deep interconnectedness between my soul and the world.”

