“Recurring Visitation” delves into the realm of dreams, capturing the essence of a recurring vision where I traverse multiple rooms to visit departed loved ones. The watercolor and ink portrayal of a house within a circular frame symbolizes the cyclical nature of this dream. “Recurring Visitation 1” reflects the ethereal quality of the dream state with muted tones of ochre and plum, evoking a sense of both nostalgia and mystery. “Recurring Visitation 2” adopts a more playful aesthetic, while “Recurring Visitation 3” is rendered to be more broody. Each room represents a distinct encounter with the deceased, inviting viewers to contemplate themes of memory, loss, and the subconscious.
