

Jaina Cipriano

Power Prayer

When I am doing a self portrait, I follow my instincts, ending up messy and exhausted. But that is where the transformation happens—I am different than I was when I started. Then the image must be shared. The audience is important; once I am witnessed, the transformation is solidified.